Planning State Expenditure Plan

The first step in the process for the Consortium's official development of the Florida State Expenditure Plan is the composition and drafting of what the Restoration Council is calling a "Planning State Expenditure Plan". Doug Robison, the project manager on behalf of the ESA consultant team provided the Board with a comprehensive presentation of the draft Planning SEP document and the proposed process for the Consortium's development of the final State Expenditure Plan. The entire process is anticipated to take close to two years to complete. The Planning SEP informs the Restoration Council of the Gulf Consortium's process for selecting the consultant team, the Consortium's proposed planning approach (which includes a process for goal setting, project nomination, project evaluation, and the development of the final State Expenditure Plan). The Planning SEP also contains information on financial management and conflicts of interest policies. The Governor will submit the Planning SEP to the Restoration Council. The Planning SEP will then be reviewed by Council staff and approved by the Chair. The Council's rules establish a 60-day time period for review and approval. At the January 21 meeting, the Board approved the transmittal of the draft Planning SEP to the Governor for his approval and submission.
